LATEST FROM BROWNVILLE, TEXAS.—Dates of the 2d instant reports that Cortinas' band continues its depredations threatening with fire and sword. On the 20th ult., thirty men entered the city and fired one round, they were then dispersed by the artillery and fled. On the 24th ult., a number of citizens with cannon marched against Cortinas, drove the guard from his house, and after proceeding a short distance fell into an ambush, lost their cannon, and were finally entirely defeated. They had four wounded, but none killed. Cortinas lost two killed. Cortinas afterwards sent a letter demanding of the citizens the surrender of the Sheriff and others to save the town from destruction. There was a general panic at Brownville. The city was barricaded, trenches dug, and an attack hourly expected. It is expected that after taking Brownville, Cortinas will attack Brazos. The Mayor of Brownville appeals to New Orleans for one hundred men, as the citizens are worn out and the rangers have not arrived from northern Mexico. Sixty felons released from prison at Victoria joined the guerrilla band and were devastating the country. A later dispatch, dated New Orleans, Nov. 11th, says Rio Grande City has been attacked by a portion of Cortinas' band, and nearly every house was pillaged. It is reported that Cortinas has two bands, numbering 700 men. The Brownville people were greatly distressed. The mails had all been intercepted. Cortinas threatens to destroy the town, and cut off and murder all reinforcement sent to its aid.

Letter from a Returned Pike's Peak.
BURLINGAME, Nov. 7, 1895.

EDITORS OF EMPORIA NEWS: I see a notice in your issue of the 5th, of my return with Mr. Hare from the Mountains. I will add a few more items for the gratification of your many readers. As to the gold, it is a demonstrated fact, that the yellow dust does exist there in vast quantities. The actual bed rock had not been reached till about the last of August. During September, far richer yields had been obtained out of the same gulch diggings. Many in the Nevada gulch, that paid from two to four dollars per day, in upper strata, now yield from eight to twelve, in lower strata lying from two to four feet above the bed rock, and much coarser gold.
Now, a word as to roads. I went out on the so-called Santa Fe route, viz: Council Grove, Big Arkansas, Bents Fort, Fountain City. I make, by a careful journal of my travel—seven hundred and thirty miles from Kansas City to Denver—and a very good road, in the whole, as all know. I returned the Platte road, from Denver to the Big Sandy, called five hundred and ten miles (measured with a yarn I think). My journal makes it 890. It is called 170 miles from Sandy to Leavenworth—and a desperate bad road, hilly, sandy and no wood for over 200 miles, often from one to four miles from road to river camping. I should always go the South road. The grass was burnt, or burning, all the way from Denver to Fort Kearney. Animals must surely perish that come, or go through now, if depending on grass. I met 267 wagons going out—234 were loaded with goods and provisions for Denver—six yoke of cattle to each wagon, mostly. Parkerson's train, seven; Daniel D. White, of Jackson, Mo., train, 33 wagons; Jones, Cartright and others.
Provisions, and all goods, were cheap in Denver, and a very large supply. Sugar and bacon, 20 cents per pound; flour, best, $12 to $14 per hundred; whiskey from $150 to $250 per gallon.

GEN. A. G. HICKS.

DISCHARGED.—We noticed last week the death of James White, alleged to have been caused by an accidental pistol shot. His associate, Patrick Dwyer, who was charged by the Coroner's Jury with the killing, has since had a full and thorough examination, and all circumstances that could have any bearing upon the case were brought to light. Justice Chapman, after a patient hearing of the case discharged the prisoner, and we also believe performed his honest convictions of duty in so doing. There were many items of testimony which could scarcely be made reconcilable with the prisoner's innocence; in fact the evidence, in many important particulars, detailed strong presumption of guilt, yet it was not upon the whole sufficiently strong to warrant a legal conclusion to that effect. The weight of evidence before the magistrate went to show, at least by strong implication, that the property found with the two men when they arrived in our neighborhood, belonged to White, the deceased, although Dwyer claims the principal part thereof. The Probate Court has very properly taken charge of the whole of it, and appointed an Administrator, who will take the necessary steps to secure to the parties or their legal representatives their rights to the property.—American Sentinel, 14th inst.

WHEREAS, The Board of county Supervisors of Breckenridge county, at their 10th meeting, rescinded an order made by a previous Board, for the construction of county buildings, together with appropriations therefor, thereby exceeding their power in attempting to repudiate a contract previously made and legally entered into in good faith; therefore,

C. V. ESKRIDGE, Clerk.

* NOTE.—Want of space prevents us from publishing the list. The bills allowed at this meeting of the Board amounted to $1093 50, which, with the indebtedness, as per statement above, and the amount issued to building commissioners for the construction of a court house and jail, ($2,500), makes the total indebtedness of the county, at this time, $5053 71.
